Clearing Swiss Customs without delay

Please note: The information in this brochure applies only to goods which you take personally with you personally on a journey across the border and which are intended for your own private use or as gifts. The provisions on merchandise are applicable to dispatched consignments from online orders abroad to Switzerland and goods intended for commercial purposes imported via private vehicles (www.customs.admin.ch > Information companies).

Upon entering Switzerland, you contribute to clearance without delay by:

- having recognised and valid travel documents (passport, ID card, visa, etc.) ready, and
- spontaneously declaring carried goods and animals.

If you are only carrying goods which are exempt from customs duty and VAT or which you cleared with the QuickZoll app, you may proceed across the border without declaring anything.

In this case, you may:

- select the green channel in airports; or
- place the green “nothing to declare” sign on the dashboard of the car.

Passing through the green channel or placing a green “nothing to declare” sign on the dashboard is binding on you. Swiss Customs staff may carry out checks without asking.

If you are carrying goods or animals which are subject to duty or to restrictions or bans, you must declare the goods or select the red channel in airports. You can find more detailed information on the form of customs declaration in chapter 5.

Tax and duty-free importation

If you are returning from abroad or if you are entering Switzerland, you may import the following goods free of VAT and customs duty:

– Personal effects which:

- travellers living in Switzerland take along when going abroad;
- travellers who live abroad use during their stay in Switzerland and take back when they leave.

Included, for instance, are items of clothing, underwear, toiletries, sports equipment, photo and film cameras, camcorders, mobile phones, and portable computers.

– Travelling provisions

Foodstuffs ready to eat and non-alcoholic beverages for the day of travelling.

– Fuels

Fuel in the tank of your private vehicle. Additional fuel (e.g. in a spare fuel can) up to a maximum of 25 litres per vehicle is also duty-free.

– Other goods

You may import other goods which are intended for your private use or as gifts free of customs duty and VAT provided your answers to the following questions are “no”:

1. Does the total value of all of the goods being carried exceed the VAT-free limit of CHF 300?
2. Have the duty-free allowances defined on page 11 been exceeded?

Please note that the importation of certain goods (e.g. counterfeits, weapons, pyrotechnic articles, certain types of plants, animals, animal products and goods subject to species protection) may also be subject to import bans or to specific restrictions (see chapters 2, 3 and 4).

VAT-free limit

Goods that you import for your own private use or as gifts are VAT-free up to a value of CHF 300. The value of all the goods is decisive, including the value of gifts received, foodstuffs, tobacco goods, alcoholic beverages, household pets brought from abroad and repairs and maintenance work performed abroad on your own private vehicle.

The value after deduction of foreign VAT, provided this is indicated on the receipt/invoice, is decisive. Value details in foreign currencies are converted into CHF at the preceding day's exchange rate (forex sell rate).

The tax-free limit can be claimed only once per day by the same person and is only granted if you are carrying the goods on you. The tax-free limit applies also for children.

If you are carrying goods that exceed the tax-free limit of CHF 300, you must pay VAT on the total value of all of the goods. VAT is calculated based on the value of the goods and is levied at the normal rate or the reduced rate (e.g. for foodstuffs).

Showing a receipt or any other proof of the value certainly helps clearing customs.

You must spontaneously declare goods subject to VAT for assessment verbally or in writing (cf. section “Form of customs declaration” in chapter 5).

Please note: If the duty-free allowances for alcoholic beverages, tobacco products and certain foodstuffs are exceeded, you must pay customs duty (see page 11).

Examples of how the tax-free limit is applied for individuals

-  1 item worth CHF 100
-  free of VAT
-  subject to VAT

CHF 300

CHF 400

Application of the tax-free limit for more than one person

One person can submit a joint customs declaration for several people travelling together (e.g. relatives, friends or acquaintances).

The person making the declaration assumes responsibility for the customs declaration, i.e. she or he must pay any duties and taxes due and incurs criminal law liability in the event of undeclared goods being found and criminal proceedings being initiated subsequently.

Please note: If the total value of all of the goods being carried exceeds the sum of the tax-free limits of the people travelling together, the person making the declaration is not entitled to the tax-free limit.

Individual items with a value of more than CHF 300 (e.g. a table) carried by several people are also always subject to VAT.

Examples of how the tax-free limit is applied for several people travelling together

-  1 item worth CHF 100
-  free of VAT
-  subject to VAT

CHF 600

CHF 900

1 item worth CHF 400

Further examples of how the tax-free limit is applied for several people submitting one customs declaration can be found at www.customs.admin.ch > Information individuals > Travel and purchases, allowances and duty-free limits > Importation into Switzerland > Value of goods up to CHF 300, free of VAT > Further information.

Duty-free allowances

Goods that you import for your private use or as gifts are duty-free. This does not apply for so-called sensitive foodstuffs, alcoholic beverages and tobacco products, excess amounts of which are subject to customs duty (see the table page 11).

Please note: If the total value of the goods carried (including the value of all foodstuffs, alcoholic beverages and tobacco products) exceeds the tax-free limit of CHF 300, you will have to pay VAT on the total value in any case (see page 7).

Application of the duty-free allowance for more than one person

One person can submit a joint customs declaration for several people travelling together (e.g. relatives, friends or acquaintances).

The person making the declaration assumes responsibility for the customs declaration, i.e. she or he must pay any duties and taxes due and incurs criminal law liability in the event of undeclared goods being found and criminal proceedings being initiated subsequently.

If you submit a joint customs declaration for several people, each person's duty-free allowance will be taken into account.

³⁾ The duty-free allowances are granted only once per day to the same person. The gross weight is used as the assessment basis.
⁴⁾ «Game» refers to land mammals and birds which live in the wild or are kept in enclosures such as antelopes, elk, hares, chamois, kangaroos, marmots, coypus, partridges, reindeer, ibexes, ostriches, pigeons, quails, wild ducks, wild geese and wild boar.
⁵⁾ Living plants and plant material (fruit, vegetables, etc.) from third countries are subject to certification or are prohibited (see chapter 2).

Importation of plants, animal products and animals by individuals

Plants

Bringing plants, fresh (living) parts of plants, goods made from certain types of wood and soil (of any kind) with you poses a major risk for the introduction and establishment of particularly dangerous harmful organisms.

To mitigate this risk, strict phytosanitary regulations apply to the importation of plant material from third countries.

a) Importation from EU states¹:

There are generally no phytosanitary requirements for importing the above-mentioned plant materials in tourist traffic. Exceptions can be found on the website of the Swiss Federal Plant Protection Service SPPS (see page 34).

b) Importation from other countries (third countries):

Plants and fresh (living) parts of plants (e.g. fruit, vegetables, cut flowers, cut foliage or seeds), as well as soil and goods made from certain types of wood are subject to either import bans or inspection on importation and must be accompanied by a phytosanitary certificate. If you wish to import the aforementioned plant materials from third countries, you must obtain information on the current regulations from the Federal Office for Agriculture in good time before importing them (see page 34).

Exceptions: Pineapples (Ananas comosus), coconuts (Cocos nucifera), durian (Durio zibethinus), bananas (Musa) and dates (Phoenix dactilifera) may also be imported from third countries without phytosanitary certification.

Species Protection (CITES Flora)

Approximately 25000 types of plant are covered by the Washington Species Protection Convention (CITES) and are globally protected.

The importation of plants of this nature or products thereof is either completely prohibited or is subject to authorisation (e.g. orchids, cacti, certain types of wood and medicinal plants).

The Federal Food Safety and Veterinary Office will provide you with information and respective authorisations (cf. page 34).

¹ In phytosanitary terms, the Canary Islands, Ceuta, Melilla and France's overseas territories are not considered EU states

Animal products

Goods of animal origin (including milk products, honey, seafood and pet food, amongst others)

You may import goods of animal origin for personal use from EU countries, Iceland and Norway without being subject to controls by a border vet. The goods should not be placed on the market.

The importation of animal products from other countries (e.g. Turkey) is generally prohibited. Exception: The importation of the following products for personal use is permitted:

- Up to 20 kg per person:
 - dead mussels;
 - gutted fish; and
 - other dead fishery products.

One individual fish weighing more than 20 kg can also be brought in. From the Faroe Islands, Greenland you can take as many fishery products as you and your household can eat.

- Up to 10 kg per person: all food-stuffs and pet food from the Faroe Islands and Greenland.
- Up to 2 kg per person:
 - honey;
 - dead landsnails and frogs' legs;
 - baby milk powder, baby food, special medical food and medical animal feed, provided these are packaged brand-name products which do not have to be refrigerated;
 - eggs.
- Unrestricted: baked goods without meat, chocolate.

A complete list can be found on the website of the Federal Food Safety and Veterinary Office (cf. page 34).

Additional restrictions for protected animal species

The importation of animal products from protected animal species either requires authorisation or is prohibited. In tourist traffic, there is an import tolerance of 125 g per person per day for sturgeon caviar, whereby the maximum quantities may not be aggregated for several people.

Animals

Pets, dogs, cats and horses

Information on the importation of household pets, dogs and cats can be found on the website of the Federal Food Safety and Veterinary Office (cf. page 34).

Information on the importation of horses can be found on the website of the Federal Food Safety and Veterinary Office and that of Swiss Customs (cf. page 34).

Whether by car, plane or train, the transportation of animals must be conducted in an animal-friendly manner. The provisions of the Federal Act on the Protection of Animals and of IATA must be strictly adhered to. The brochure "Travelling – important information about animals" provides information about regulations which must be observed (available in French, German and Italian).

Species Protection (CITES Fauna)

Approximately 3500 types of animal are covered by the Washington Species Protection Convention (CITES) and are globally protected.

The importation of animals of this nature or products thereof is either completely prohibited or is subject to authorisation (this includes e.g. snakes, lizards, tortoises, parrots, ivory, tortoise-shell and various fur skins).

In particular refrain from buying:

- wool from the endangered Tibetan antelope (shahtoosh)
- skins of leopards, snow leopards, clouded leopards, tigers, lions, pumas, jaguars, ocelots or cheetahs
- carvings made from ivory or whale bone
- products made from turtles
- miracle cures made from tiger bones
- rhinoceros horn
- musk or bear bile

Upon importation, you must submit an export permit (or a re-exportation certificate), issued by the CITES authority in the country of origin before exportation out of said country.

Information and respective authorisations will be provided by the Federal Food Safety and Veterinary Office (cf. page 34).

Duties and taxes

The detailed provisions can be found in chapter 1.

If the imported plants, animal products and animals are subject to inspection by the Phytosanitary Service, the border vet or the species protection control office, the corresponding inspection fees will also be due.

Importation of jewellery and watches

Buying jewellery and watches as a private individual

Be particularly careful when you buy jewellery or watches abroad. Upon inspection, apparent bargains often turn out to be defective or even forgeries (e.g. of branded goods and designer articles but also of precious metal stamps).

Duties and taxes

The detailed provisions can be found in chapter 1.

Identifying counterfeit jewellery and counterfeit watches

Fake watches and fake jewellery are so cleverly made that even an expert needs the help of special appliances to detect the original from the fake. High prices do not guarantee impeccable quality. Even an expensive piece of jewellery can be a forgery. Even an indication of the fineness does not necessarily mean that the goods are real. For this reason, purchase valuables abroad only in recognised specialist shops.

Counterfeiting and piracy

Forgeries do not just damage the manufacturer of the original article, they also damage the country where they are manufactured; added value and jobs are lost. In addition, organised crime is financed by sales of counterfeit goods too. It is for this reason that various laws such as the Swiss Precious Metals Control Act prohibit counterfeits. Swiss Customs agents are obliged to confiscate counterfeit watches and jewellery and have them destroyed.

Information on this topic can be obtained from the Swiss Anti-Counterfeiting and Piracy Platform, (cf. page 34).

Further information and provisions

Goods which are subject to authorisation and which are prohibited from being imported

The importation of certain goods is restricted and is possible only under certain specific conditions (e.g. with authorisation), and in the case of certain products even complete import bans are applicable.

The following goods in particular are subject to such restrictions (non-exhaustive list):

- weapons (fire arms, knives, electric shock instruments, tear gas sprays, truncheons, etc.)
- radar warning devices
- non-compliant telecommunication equipment
- interference transmitter (jammers)
- narcotics
- medications amounting to more than a month's supply
- doping substances
- objects which contain depictions of violence
- propaganda
- pyrotechnic articles
- counterfeited branded and designer articles, pirated products
- cultural property
- laser pointers from class 1M

Please also observe the regulations of the foreign authorities.

These remain expressly reserved.

Entering and staying in Switzerland

Information on entering and staying in Switzerland (regulations on travel documents and visas) can be obtained from the State Secretariat for Migration.

Liquid funds

In the case of the importation, transit and exportation of liquid funds (cash and securities) worth more than CHF 10,000, it must be possible to supply information on the origin, the intended use and the beneficial owner. The right is reserved to take measures linked to combating crime.

Further provisions

Fact sheets with additional important information are available (www.customs.admin.ch > Documentation):

Information on the export and transit of personal goods can be found on the website of Swiss Customs (www.customs.admin.ch > Information individuals > Declaring goods).

Form of customs declaration

When entering Switzerland, you must declare all goods and animals that you are carrying with you, as well as declare any repair and maintenance work carried out on the vehicle without being requested to do so.

N.B.: Customs inspections are also carried out in Switzerland itself. In the case of such an inspection, it will no longer be possible to make a customs declaration which should have been made beforehand. You commit a criminal offence if you do not declare, not fully declare or falsely declare prohibited or dutiable goods or ones that require authorisation.

Please retain the documents for the customs declaration made for at least one year.

There are four possibilities for declaring goods in tourist traffic:

1. Verbal customs declaration

If the border crossing is manned by Swiss Customs staff, all goods must be declared verbally without you being solicited to do so. The verbal declaration is binding.

2. Use the red channel in airports
All goods must be declared to Swiss Customs staff.

3. Customs declaration with the QuickZoll app

You can clear goods you are importing and which are intended for your personal use or as gifts with the FCA QuickZoll app. The terms of use can be found in the app. The app is available in the Apple app store or in the Google Play store.

4. Written customs declaration

At certain border crossings, declaration boxes are available for you to declare your goods in writing (cf. page 24).

This form of declaration is only permitted for goods which are not intended to be sold or traded. Merchandise must be declared at a customs office during opening hours.

Note

Clearance with the app and the written declaration are only possible if the goods are subject to neither restrictions nor bans and require neither a compulsory certificate nor authorisation.

If you are carrying goods which are subject to certification or authorisation, please use the nearest border crossing which is manned by Swiss Customs staff.

How the written self-declaration works (declaration box).

1. Take note of the details on the declaration box information board.
2. Take the form entitled "Customs declaration for tourist traffic" from the declaration box and complete it truthfully and in full.
3. List ALL the goods that you are carrying and the costs on the form. Customs will deduct the applicable duty-free allowances and limits during clearance.
4. Sign the form, and detach the copies (B + C) from the original A.
5. Place the original (A) and the supporting documents (receipts/invoices) in the envelope.

6. Put the sealed envelope in the declaration box.
7. Keep both of the copies (B + C). In the event of an inspection in Switzerland itself, Swiss Customs staff will retain a copy (B).
8. The import duties payable will be billed to you by post with a payment slip. The documents submitted will be returned to you.

Entering Switzerland by train

Special provisions apply for personal goods carried:
www.customs.admin.ch > Information individuals > Declaring goods > Importation into Switzerland > Travelling by rail

Signs for border crossings which are temporarily manned by Swiss Customs staff or ones which are unmanned

WITH written self-declaration:

You can use border crossings that bear this sign at all times, even if you are carrying goods that must be declared.

If Swiss Customs staff are present, you can declare your goods verbally.

If no Swiss Customs staff are present, declare your goods in writing (cf. pages 23/24) or with the QuickZoll app.

WITHOUT the possibility of written self-declaration:

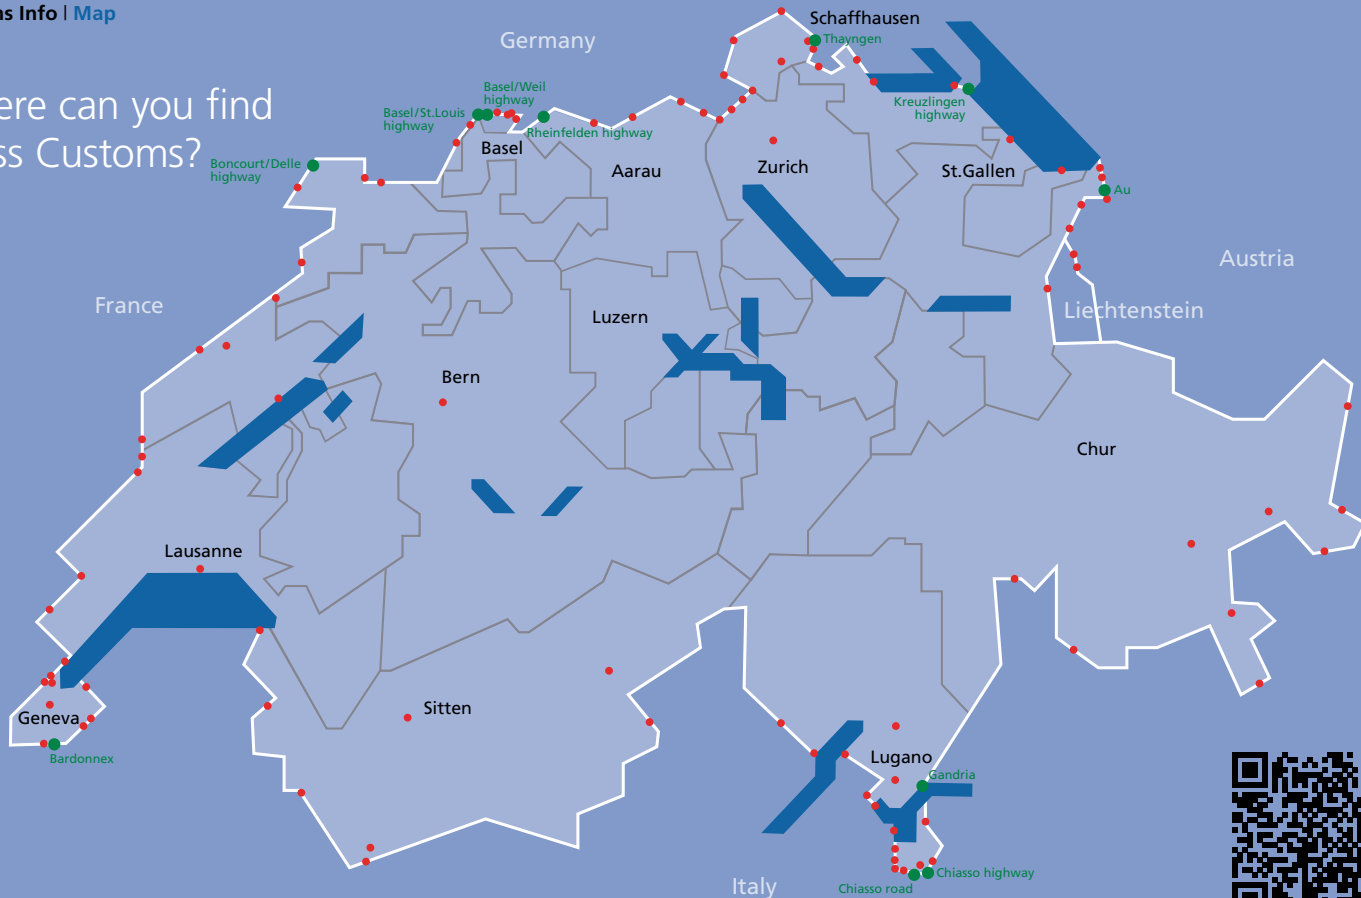

N.B.: You may use border crossings that bear this sign only if the following conditions are met:

- The goods you are carrying
- must be tax and duty-free or be cleared with the QuickZoll app
- are not subject to any restrictions or bans, and
- require neither a compulsory certificate nor authorisation.

If you are carrying additional or other goods, please use the nearest border crossing indicated on the sign.

Where can you find Swiss Customs?

- Unmanned customs offices and manned customs offices with restricted opening hours where goods in tourist traffic can be declared. During unmanned hours, customs declarations must be made in writing or with the QuickZoll app (cf. pages 23/25).
- Manned customs offices open 24/7 for tourist traffic.

The current opening hours and addresses of the customs offices can be found online at www.customs.admin.ch > The FCA > Organization > Border crossings and customs offices, opening hours > Addresses and opening hours of the offices

Motorway tax sticker

A fee is payable for using motor vehicles and trailers of up to 3.5 tonnes each on Swiss motorways.

Points of sale

Switzerland

In Switzerland, the motorway tax sticker can be obtained at post offices, petrol stations, garages and cantonal vehicle licensing offices. At the border, it can be purchased at all manned customs offices during opening times.

Abroad

The motorway tax sticker is obtainable abroad from the majority of motoring organisations; in the vicinity of the Swiss border, it is also available in motorway service areas, various kiosks and "Trafiken" in Austria.

Selling price

The selling price is CHF 40. If you purchase the motorway tax sticker from a customs office, it can be paid for using foreign currency notes (EUR, GBP, USD; notes only). Change will always be given in CHF. Most customs offices accept credit/debit cards.

The motorway tax sticker backing paper serves as proof of payment (receipt).

Affixing the motorway tax sticker

The motorway tax sticker is valid only if it is affixed on the vehicle according to the instructions:

- In the case of motor vehicles, on the inside of the windscreen
- In the case of trailers and motor bikes, on an easily accessible and non-replaceable part.

When affixing the motorway tax sticker, please ensure that it is stuck directly onto the windscreen (but not behind the tinted section). Motorway tax stickers which have only been affixed using tape, film or any other aids will not be permitted and are regarded as having been tampered with.

Returns/refunds and exchanges

Do not stockpile motorway tax stickers. Surplus unused motorway tax stickers cannot be returned. There is also no entitlement to a refund or a replacement in the case of inappropriate handling, destruction or loss of a motorway tax sticker.

Detached motorway tax stickers will cease to be valid.

In the case of foreign vehicles, customs offices will replace motorway tax stickers free of charge providing that the windscreen had to be replaced due to damage and the cost of a replacement motorway tax sticker was not paid for by the insurance company. The damaged motorway tax sticker and the bill for the replacement windscreen must be submitted. A replacement sticker is organised by the insurance company in the case of Swiss vehicles.

Please note: Driving on Swiss motorways without a valid motorway tax sticker or with one that has been affixed in the wrong place is a punishable offence and incurs a fine of CHF 200. Anyone who manipulates or misuses the motorway tax sticker will be reported to the cantonal law enforcement authorities, which may result in a higher fine.

Further information on the motorway tax sticker and an overview of the roads subject to the obligatory motorway tax and the foreign sales points can be found online at www.vignette.ch.

Lump-sum heavy vehicle charge (PSVA)

In Switzerland, a mileage-related heavy vehicle charge is payable on motor vehicles and trailers with a total weight of over 3.5 tonnes. A lump-sum charge is levied for coaches, buses, motorhomes, campervans, passenger vehicles and their trailers over 3.5 tonnes.

Unlike the motorway tax sticker, the heavy vehicle charge is not only payable for the use of the motorways. Foreign vehicles subject to the PSVA are liable for the charge in the same way as vehicles registered in Switzerland for each day spent in Switzerland, even if they are only parked up and are not driven (e.g. a mobile home at a camping ground).

Rates

The calculation is based on the maximum permissible total weight and/or the towing weight of the tractor unit (in accordance with the vehicle registration document) and the applicable period.

Payment for the lump-sum heavy vehicle charge can be made for:

- Between one and thirty consecutive days
- Ten freely chosen days during a given year¹⁾
- Between one and eleven consecutive months
- One year

The most frequent rates can be found on page 33. All tariffs are shown in form 15.91.

¹⁾ In the case of proof of payment for ten freely chosen days, you must independently validate it before entry as well as at the start of each subsequent day the vehicle spends in Switzerland.

Collection of charges

For foreign vehicles, you must pay the lump-sum heavy vehicle charge with the Via app or directly to Swiss customs upon entry using form 15.91. It is not possible to pay the charge online.

By using the Via app to pay the charge, you will receive an electronic ticket on your mobile device, which serves as proof of payment to the enforcement authorities. If you have paid at customs, form 15.91, stamped by Swiss customs, serves as proof of payment. If you are driving a vehicle subject to the lump-sum heavy vehicle charge and do not have valid proof of payment, you must report to the manned customs office.

A list of customs offices and information concerning the procedure upon entering Switzerland via unmanned customs offices can be found on the website of Swiss Customs (cf. page 34).

Cantonal vehicle licensing offices collect the charge for Swiss vehicles.

Extensions | refunds | transfers

If the stay in Switzerland lasts longer than planned, the lump-sum heavy vehicle charge can be extended. Please observe the instructions on the last page of the proof of payment form 15.91 or use the Via app to pay any possible extensions of the charge.

If you return the lump-sum heavy vehicle charge proof of payment before it expires, you, the applicant, are entitled to a pro rata refund of the charge if the gross sum to be refunded is over CHF 50. We charge a fee for refunds.

Before it expires, you can have the proof of payment of the lump-sum heavy vehicle charge transferred to another vehicle within the same fee category at a customs office. We charge a fee for transfers. If you have paid the charge with the Via app, the procedure for requesting a refund is explained in the app under "Terms of Use: Use".

Further information

Further information on the lump-sum heavy vehicle charge can be found on the website of Swiss Customs (cf. page 34).

Motorway tax sticker

A motorway tax sticker has to be purchased to use motor vehicles and trailers up to 3.5 tonnes each on motorways: CHF 40.

You can find more information on pages 29 and 30 as well as in the fact sheet "Clearing vehicles through Swiss Customs" (form 15.49).

Lump-sum heavy vehicle charge (PSVA)

You must pay the lump-sum heavy vehicle charge rather than the mileage-related one for the following vehicles (non-exhaustive list) weighing a total of over 3.5 tonnes:

Coaches and buses
(CHF 11 – CHF 25 per day¹⁾)

Campervans/motorhomes
(CHF 3.25 per day¹⁾)

Caravans (CHF 3.25 per day¹⁾)

Heavy passenger vehicles
(CHF 3.25 per day¹⁾)

Trailers weighing more than 3.5 tonnes drawn by the above vehicles or light motor vehicles (CHF 0.11 per 100 kg towing weight per day¹⁾)

Further information is available on pages 31 and 32.
